

Attention: Scholars, Activists, Students and Community Members

Call for Submissions:

PEACE STUDIES JOURNAL

A PROJECT OF THE CENTRAL NEW YORK PEACE
STUDIES CONSORTIUM – ISSN: 2151-0806

The goal of this online, free, peer-reviewed Journal, is to promote critical scholarly work on the areas of peace, nonviolence, social movements, conflict, crisis, ethnicity, culture, education, alternatives to violence, inclusion, repression and control, punishment and retribution, globalization, economics, ecology, security, activism, and social justice.

We are seeking research articles and essays and/or student final papers, including:

course/class summaries	research notes	commentary	tactic and strategy analysis
academic development	lecture summaries	conference summaries
protest summaries	action alert summaries	film, book, art, and media reviews
interviews and dialogues	poems and other forms of expression including MP3s and youtube videos

Review Process

Upon acceptance for review, the Peace Studies Journal editors will send manuscripts under a double-peer reviewed process, (to no less than two, and generally three reviewers).

Reviewers provide their recommendations to the editor, who makes the final decision to accept the manuscript.

Submissions will be assigned to one of the four following categories:

accept without revisions | accept with editorial revisions | revise and resubmit for peer review | reject

Every effort will be made to inform authors of the editor's decision within 100 days of receipt of a manuscript. The Peace Studies Journal only publishes original materials. Please do not submit manuscripts that are under review or previously published elsewhere.

To make a submission, visit the Peace Studies Journal -
[Each issue of is published by a different member of the Associated Editorial Board]
www.peacestudiesjournal.org